Phillip Reid Becomes Bank Examiner; Quits Post Here

Examiner

PHILLIP REID

Made Cashier

LESTER WILLIAMS

Chronicling the important change in our financial circles we are privileged to quote from the minutes of the bank's directors meeting Tuesday, April 13th.

"The resignation of Phillip Reid as Cashier of this bank effective April 17, 1937, was received with regrets. He leaves our institution to join the National Bank Examining forces, a tribute to his personal efficiency and to that of our employees in general. While it is with some pride we make this contribution to better banking, at the same time it is a distinct loss to us to no longer have such an efficient member of our organization. However, we deem it proper that, after kindling the spark of ambition in our young men that we make our sacrifices and wish them well in their endeavor to forward their interest and hope that still greater opportunities may open to them in life. It this connection the bank points with pardonable pride to the many young men who have had their first and only business experience in this bank and who have later gone out into the world and achieved signal successes in businesses of their own. We reluctantly part but to our co-worker and friend, we say "Our best, always."

Following the custom of the bank since its founding thirty seven years ago, the position of Cashier made vacant by resignation was filled from its own ranks and Lester Williams, Assistant Cashier, was made Cashier.

In conversation with Mr. Reid, The Herald learned that he was to report to Chief National Bank Examiner next Monday, April 17th, for duty. His family will continue to reside in Cameron as it may be some time before a definite district is assigned and he can locate at his new headquarters.

METHODIST BISHOP TO SPEAK IN CAMERON

The Methodist church is in the midst of a great forward movement for missions which is called The Bishop's Crusade. Regional, conference and district meetings have already been held throughout the church. Along with the renewing of missionary interest in the church is the immediate objective of liquidating a small debt which the Mission Board had to incur in order to keep the missionaries on the field during the depression. The movement began in the foreign fields among the native Christians. The many expressions of appreciation and the sacrificial giving of the native Christians has aroused the church at home. Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek of China, out of regard for missions in China have given $1,000.

In the local Methodist church the regular services and special periods are being devoted to the study of the whole missionary enterprise. This period will close with a fellowship dinner at the church on the night of April 23, the 89th anniversary of the sailing of Charles Tayler and Benjamen Jenkins, the first foreign missionares of the M. An Open Letter to A Boor on Wheels

Some day, my ill-mannered friend, you are going to go too far. Some day, when you swerve around a street corner, you are going to clip the buttons off the wrong pedestrian's vest, and he is going to catch up with you, haul you off your comfy upholstery and deal you the smacking down you deserve. You're a veritable titan of self-assurance, aren't you, when you're behind an eight-cylinder engine? But how do you look on your feet? Are you the same dashing, imposing self-assertive personage for whom the rest of the world must make room? Would you dare shove another pedestrian aside; would you jostle a six-footer? You would not, for you're just a scrubby little inferiority complex who's been sublimated by a shot of gasoline.

And what's the reason for this breakneck rush of yours, anyway? You're in an automobile. You'll arrive at your destination, 10, 15 or 20 times quicker than the pedestrian you're crowding back onto the curb. The best he can do is five or six miles an hour. You are going 25 to 30, perhaps 40 miles an hour. Is your business ten times more urgent than his? My, my, what an important fellow you are! What vast designs, what momentous projects, must occupy your waking hours to justify such impatience.

The automobile, it seems, is the devil's gift to the Little Man. Put him in control of a motor car and he's cock o' the crosswalks. But if you suddenly yanked that ton or two of iron and steel out from under him, you'd find him just a measly nonentity with the mental setup of a grammar school bully.

Home Agent Writes From Hawaiian Isle

Miss Bertha Fae Strange, former Home Demonstration Agent here and now in the Hawaiian Islands, writes her first letter as follows:

How about making this a diary? The trip over was grand, I didn't even get sea-sick. There was lots of entertainment on board, as dances, picture shows (say "Broadcast of 1937") horses (the kind one can loose his money on,) teas, bridge parties, swimming, deck sports (oh, yes, I won the title of champion nail driver—the prize was a travel clock,) but the most excitement was our landing in Honolulu. A tug or small boat came out about 10 miles to meet the ship; it was loaded with friends of passengers, leis ((wreaths of flowers—have never seen so many) and a hula quartet who entertained passengers until we docked. A huge crowd came to greet the boat, the band played weired music and everybody stood with arms of flowers for the arriving passengers. The Extension office sent a lei out on the tug for me and then when I arrived there were 9 staff members there to greet me and each brought a lei! Imagine my wearing 10 leis at one time and for the rest of the day as the custom goes—than the one nicest one the following day!

I stayed in Honululu four days—'tis a huge tourist resort with palms, ferns, flowers, trees and shrubs everywhere. With the heavy rainfall, every thing looks so fresh and

Strike Results

(Editor's note. This article is published as a news item, and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

Just now the strike situation is becoming serious—yea, it is alarming. There are more people on strike than ever before in the history of the nation. While in some places strikers have returned to their jobs, yet the issues that caused the strike have not been settled and such return is merely a truce of industrial warfare until agreements are reached.

Under such conditions the workers are in reality still on strike and likely will again quit their work the very minute failure to agree with their employers happen. There fore, it can truthfully be said that nothing has been settled yet in this great industrial crisis that threatens the nation. I use the terms threaten and nation advisedly, becuase labor is resorting to an altogether different plan to enforce its demands from what it did in former strikes.

I am taking the liberty to write these lines because in my public and private career I have always tried to be fair to both labor and capital. As a matter of legal right, I have always believed in and still believe in the right of the employer to fix the scale of wages which he is willing to pay for labor. If that scale is not satisfactory to labor, then the laboring man should be allowed the right to peaceful strike by quitting his job. I have never thought that these injunctions to stop labor from striking were right in law or morals. These injunctions grievously invade the personal liberty of the worker just as much as the sit down strike practice invades the right of property. As long as the possession of private property is not invaded and personal violence is not used, the right of peaceful picketing should be allowed. The right of any citizen to appeal his grievance to the public should be protected as well as his right to appeal to the courts.

Thus should be legal lines between labor and capital be drawn. Thus should labor and capital be recognized and protected by the law of the land.

Let me emphasize to my labor friends that this protection of the law of these rights means as much to them as it does to their employers. The sit down strike idea will quickly destroy every right guaranteed under the law for their protection. It will do no good if in destroying property by taking forcible possession of same, labor destroys its employer but at the same time destroys itself. Grant for the sake of argument that the sit down strikers could or would operate the property as well as the present owners, yet just as soon as the present owners were put out of business and new owners were duly installed, then the same right of other laborers to take possession to give them a job at increased wages would be asserted and a conflict more serious than any controversy with the rightful and original owners would certainly result. Thus labor would destroy the owner and then would destroy itself. The sit down strikers now over 120,000 in Michigan, may destroy or confiscate the factories of the Fords and the Chryslers by means of the sit down strike, but in so doing the strikers establish the right of somebody also to destroy them in the same way.

If the sit down idea should prevail, it will be because the government has been unable to prevent it, and then the result will be a tragedy, indeed. Unemployment will be universal and hunger and starvation will be everywhere. Nobody will escape the trouble which will destroy all lines. But, believe it or not, the farmer will be caught in the great collapse that will follow. There will be nobody to buy the products of the farm and ranch just as soon as labor destroys its own purchasing power.

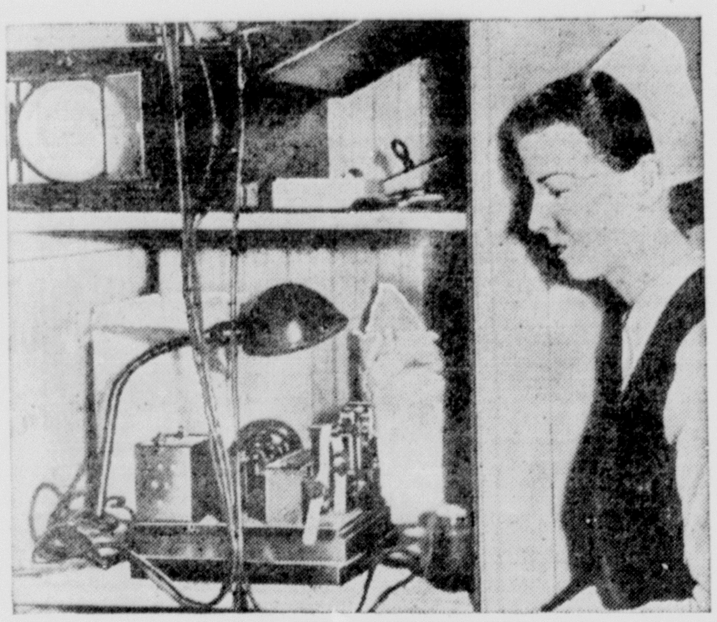
To be sure, my labor friends, I beliveve in your right to organize and bargain together for what yqu think you ought to have for a day's wage, but let me plead with you that the sit down strike idea is the biggest fool advice you have ever received. Swat it and swat the advisor. Save your government and save yourself.

Device Makes Mental Diagnoses



Miss Veronica Lavigne, nurse at the Worcester, Mass., State hospital, is shown with the delicate apparatus now being used in making diagnoses of mental cases. The machine, it is said, records changes in the patient's mental status and shows when improvement is being made. Psychiatrists say that development of the machine may mark the turning point in the fight against dementia praecox.

clean; ground all beautifully kept. The staff really treated me like somebody come! I met every body from the janitor up, who was connected with the University. The director gave a luncheon for me; his wife a tea; vice-director took me to a hula concert and other dinners and luncheons were given by people I know had never heard of me. I can't get over the hospitality that exists here. I haven't had the opportunity to get lonesome.

It was an overnight boat trip from Honolulu over to this island. I spent the week end with Miss Roberts (Hilo Agent and ex-Texas agent) and visited several volcano craters, also the one which is expected to erupt now most any time. One hears earthquake jars daily. From Hilo we (the Ass't State Agent) came on here for the night. Then on to the west side of the Island. There I saw my first coffee growing and first Japanese County Agents. O, yes, we are called "Extension Agents" here—both men and women. We came by here to attend the County Worker's 4H Camp.

I wish you could have attended the camp—was right down on the water's edge; used a well equipped Y. M. C. A. Camp. There were about 60 boys and a few girls and 7 leaders. They are very timid children, some Japanese, Chines, Hawaiians, Philippinos, Porto Ricans, Portugese, and one part negro. The children all came either barefoot or wore grass spats; boys wear trunks (in the water or out alike.) All they wanted to do was eat chop suey and stay in the water! There is very little initative on the child's part. I found it out when I sent a group of them to wash a tub of carrots and a tub of cabbage for the chop suey: After waiting an age, I started out to check on progress, to find one line of dark skins out in the ocean, another line on the shore with carrots and cabbage in the air! When I asked about the clean ones, they showed me a pile over in the sand. If one talks slow to them they understand English very well, but the expressions must be simple. I can't imagine giving demonstrations to the older Japanese women where an interperter is required.

The entire Extension Staff and Agents totals about 40. Their methods are far from ours—the school room type of progress is given and Agents work in groups only. No demonstrators, no co-operators, no year books, and no particular demonstrations are carried. No food preservation work has ever been done; however, there are gardens the year round, but getting cans and jars is most expensive. The director is allowing me to take this North side of the Island and organize it as I like—so we will only carry one demonstration (probably "Child Feeding" as that is recommended) for women; clothing for girls and clothing for junior home demonstration clubs (which is out of school age that is greatly pushed here.) We are going to have demonstrators and year books too! I am having a lot of calls for clubs, so will have a full schedule before long. To date, no 4H club ever met in summer, they run on school schedule. The law here prohibits an Agent meeting 4H clubs during school hours. But since school is out at 2:30 it can be done. However, after public school is out at 2.30 the Japanese school starts and lasts until four! A lot of the agents meet clubs on Sunday and at night. Wish you could see how well the schools are equipped, surely far ahead of Texas' school rooms and the children are always very clean, but barefoot. Say, how about having some of my children correspond to some of yours? They want to.

The rural farm life as we have in Texas does not exist here. All the land is blocked up into plantations and there are no home owners. The plantations house the laborers in village (there are three here within 5 miles.) Teachers' cottages are built by the plantation; they have their own hospital, plantation nurse and doctor. The Kohala Sugar Company in Hawaii is the plantation I live on, which is 5 miles from the County seat and Postoffice of Kohala. All one sees growing is coffee, pineapple and sugar cane! Each cottage has a 15x25 feet garden plot, rarely any chickens and no cows. A milk cow costs around $500 (canned milk is used.) There are a few daries. There are fruits as bananas, lemons, oranges, guavas, many types of nuts, papaya (looks and tastes like a cantalope but grows on trees and is a substitute in the diet here for tomatoes and oranges,) coconut, bread and looks much like it but is starch fruit (grows on trees like Bois d'Ark in contents.)

You would be surprised to see on the inside of these folks homes. Since the plantation furnishes the houses, nearly all have bath rooms. radios, drapes, rugs and living room suits; an "old Packard car" is their weakness. Laborers get from $30 to $60 per month with free housing and medical attention. Folks take life easy—all offices close at 4 p. m. and stores at 5.

I had a terrible time trying to find a place to live. There are plenty of American folks here—they hold the white collar jobs and most of their wives are school teachers, health nurses, and what not—so of course they don't want boarders. There are very few single folks here and since living expenses are so high it takes two working to make a living. The hotel would have boarded me for $90 per month. Finally the plantation manager agreed I could have their guest cottage, which only had a bedroom and bath. Since I have taken it, they have added a kitchenette, built-in cabinet, sink, hot water heater, repainted and rewired the house, garage; I get it for $7.50 per month. Groceries will cost around $25 and lights are the only utility, but I'll have to buy my stove and refrigerator which will cost around $200 which is the cheapest!

The mountains are still snow capped; nights are really cold but days are pleasant, except for continual rain; 'tis raining now and has been every since I arrived. Drives through the mountains are beautiful, the roads are narrow but paved. The mountainous regious are good pasture regions and one does see large herds of herefords—looks like Texas.

I wish you all could see our office—it is equpped like a Philadephia lawyer's office; everything possible to work with. You don't spend one penny of your salary on the job; the department furnishes demonstration material, magazines, daily paper, telephone, stamps, and even our meals when we are out on the other side of the County at lunch ime. There is another town down in the valley 18 miles away and on days I work there, they pay my hotel bill for an over night stay—so of course, one stays!

Nearly all school girls take huls, just as the children on the mainland would take tap dancing. Performances are held nightly at hotels for visitors or occasional concerts. Nearly all the Hawaiian children play the ukelele and all have beautiful voices (grass skirts are on sale at gift shops for visitors.) Chop sticks are a part of every table set. I tried them once, 'tis just another way of starving to death.

SOCIETY NEWS

By MRS. B. F. BONDS

WILLIAMS-KEELER

Of interest to a large circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Mary Stuart Williams to Raymond Keeler, Jr., of San Antonio, which took place in Alexandria, La.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, is a sister of Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr., and was married in Cameron in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Batte, and was the former Miss Maurine McAnally. Her father was at one time publisher of The Herald and a member of the Texas Legislature from Milam.

Miss Leila Lee Batte was a bride's maid in the Williams-Keeler wedding in a twilight service. The church was decorated with flowers from the wood lands and greenery, with cathedral candles shedding a soft glow for the impressive ceremony.

The bride was gowned in rare old lace, the dress her mother wore on her wedding day and carried white Kilarney roses. Miss Batte's gown was starched lace in turquois shade, her flowers were sweet peas. She wore a small maline crown hat in turquoise blue.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Crockett following the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Williams of Alexandria, La. Miss Leilia Lee Batte was accompanied to Louisana for the wedding by her mother, Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr., and Edwin Day.

ECONOIC RESEARCH CHEVROLET PLAN

Creation of a new Central Office department which will collect and place at Chevrolet dealers' disposal a wealth of pertinent information not readily obtainable elsewhere was announced this week by W. E. Holler vice-president and general sales manager of Chevrolet.

This new Research Department is headed by H. J. Bostwich, whose work in connection with Chevrolet's Quality Dealer program has occasioned widespread comment in the industry in the past two years. C. J. Seifert will act as assistant department head.

The activities of the new Research Department will be extremely broad, Mr. Holler said. Any trend, inside the industry or out of it, with a potential bearing on the welfare of Chevrolet dealers, will come within the scope of its interest.

Efforts will be made not only to keep abreast of the constant change in social and economic conditions, but also to iterpret various trends, thus affording a basis for formulation of policies by the company and its dealers. It is expected that this will enable Chevrolet and its retail organization to anticipate many problems and be in a position to cope with them when they arise.

The department will interest itself in the determination of used car potentials, especially in the larger cities. This latter effort ties in with the work of the Quality Dealer committee, whose objective is the stablization of dealerships from the standpoint of space, equipment, man power, management, and capital invested, so that these need not be in a constant state of readjustment and change. The committee will also study the shifting preferences of the consumer body, and keep close watch on legislative trends.

"The Research Department," said Mr. Holler, "is simply one more addition to a already imposing array of facilities which Chevrolet has placed at the disposal of its dealers. Probably no other retail organization in the world has comparable advantages at its command. Some of the services which Chevrolet has set up are absolutely unique—available through no other agency. Others could perhaps be purchased from companies which exist to supply them; but they would be out of the average automobile merchant's financial reach.

"Like the recent expansion of used car merchandising facilities, the Research Department operation is a further effort on the part of Chevrolet to gear its operations up with modern times and modern methods. There never was a period in the history of the world when the ability to keep informed counted so much toward success. All that we are attempting to do is to make the most of that fact and place at our disposal and that of our dealers the knowledge we are able to obtain."

CHILD WELFARE IS SEPRATE BOARD UNIT

In a meeting of the Milam County Health Board in Cameron, Thursday, the Milam County Child Welfare Board assumed its responsibility as a separate unit.

Mrs. Nettie W. Weems, a representative of the Child Welfare service in the Child Welfare Division, Austin, was present at the meeting and asked for the change stating that as a separate organization better service could be rendered. Under the Social Security Act money had been apportioned to several states for neglected dependent, delinquent and pre-delinquent children. Texas got the larger amount of the appropriation because of more rural children than any of the other states, Mrs. Weems further explained:

Texas has been divided into 10 Welfare Services, each with a staff consultant. Mrs. Weems was assigned as staff consultant to district 10, which is composed of counties adjacent to Travis county.

Mrs. Weems commended Milam County for being one of the first counties to create a Child Welfare Board when Child Welfare came into being. The Milam County Welfare Board originated here in 1934.

The Milam County Child Welfare committee under the Milam County Health Board was composed of Mrs. J. P. Love, Mrs. Tom Denson, Cameron; Mrs. Jule Coffield and Mrs. J. T. Hale, Rockdale; Miss Jean Adams, and Mrs. Bennie Winfield, Cameron. Under the new plan the board must consist of seven people appointed by the Commissioners' Court.

Others as follows were named as advisory members of the new Child Welfare Board: Mrs. Grady Stidham, Miss Imogene LaGrone, Guy T. Newton, Mrs. W. R. Newton, Sr., Miss Pearl Fulcrod, Cameron and Mrs. Tom Stidham, Jones Prairie.

Notice the sparkling beauty added to this kitchen by the modern gas range. For roasting, broiling, baking, frying or boiling there's nothing like one.

Imagine your pride and joy in having a kitchen like this!

Little wonder so many Texas homemakers are saying good-bye to the inconvenience, uncertainty and high cost of old-fashioned or inefficient cooking appliances when today's gas range can be bought for such small change each month.

Gas is the most satisfactory fuel known, and when operating through the matchless efficiency of today's gas range every cooking operation is made easier, surer. There's a smokeless broiler that broils in half the time . . . heavy oven insulation to keep kitchen cooler . . . automatic lighting . . . simmer burners —and breath-taking beauty.

Make your kitchen a "show place" with today's gas range and enjoy better, cheaper cooking!

See modern gas ranges in the displays of your dealer or gas company. And remember, you can trade your present range in on one. Monthly terms to fit your budget.

THE WASHINGTON STAGE

Reviewed By
W. R. POAGE
OUR CONGRESSMAN

I doubt that anyone would ever again criticize the Texas Legislature for delay if they could but watch the Congress a few weeks. Last week the House did nothing other than to pass the Legislative Appropriation Bill and the Appropriation Bill for the District of Columbia.

The Legislative Appropriation Bill is supposed to simply cover the cost of the House of Representatives and Senate but in fact it includes all of the expenses of the Capitol, all activities related to legislation in any way, the Library of Congress (which is not really a Congressional Library at all but simply the National Library) and such unrelated but tremendously expensive branches of Government Printing Office and for some unknown reason the Botanical Garden. The total appropriation is $24,001,734 of which only four and one half million dollars is represented by salaries of Senators and Representatives.

The District of Columbia Appropriation Bill provides for a lump sum contribution of $5,000,000 by the United States government to the support of the government of the District of Columbia. This is much less than many members desire. They want the United States government to pay a large part of the expenses of the District and, of course, all the Washington papers and most of the people here are complaining loudly as this bill will necessitate an increase in taxes in the District but as I see it the Federal Government is very generous in making this gift to their local government. Their ad valorem tax is only $1.70 per hundred in Washington and they have only a 2 cent gasoline tax. It will, therefore, be seen that they pay only about one-half as much taxes as we pay in most Texas cities. I am not in favor of increasing the contribution of the Federal Government but it is surprising to find so many members who promise Washington citizens to give them more Federal money. In fact the Legislative Committee on the District of Columbia vigorously opposed most of the retrenchment features of this appropriation bill which was brought in by the Appropriations Committee.

There has been considerable discussion of the "sit-down" strikes, but so far there has been no action taken here. I am shocked at the willingness many of the members express to allow these practices to go unnoticed. I believe in the right to strike but I cannot believe that any group or individuals has the right to take the property of another and hold it by force. If such a right exists we need not bother further about selling our cotton crop or any other product—those who want our products will simply take them. I am glad to read that our Governor has announced that he would tolerate no such vilolence in Texas.

It seems that the second Sumners Court Reform Bill providing for speeding up the decisions in cases involving Constitutional questions and other changes in procedure advocated by the President will probably come up in the House this next week. It came before us some time ago and was withdrawn but I hope it will be voted on this time. I think it is good and expect to support it.

In connection with the Court and Old Age Pension questions let me say that I appreciate any communication from any citizen of our district at any time and I am sure that the other members welcome communications from their constituents, but it is little more than a waste of everyone's time to send the printed slips that so many organizations on both sides of these and other questions are getting out. I can not but feel that any citizen can do a great deal better service by writing his Senator or Representative and setting out his reasons than be simply signing somebody's petition. I cannot keep from remembering that I have had many of the same names on petitions on both sides of the same questions. However, when one of our citizens gives me his reasons I appreciate it and it helps me do a better job for the district.

THE HERALD

Cameron's Adverting Rates too LOW .....

Newspaper advertising rates in Cameron are the lowest in Texas.

That statement will not readily be understood. To know the truth of Cameron's newspaper situation one must be familiar with what constitutes the basis of advertising rate making.

Rates are based on circulation, intensity of distribution plus a nationally established scale of publicity value.

What a newspaper charges the merchant for space should never be based on salesmanship, price cutting, false claims, economic necessity or favoritism. Every dollar invested in advertising space, to get returns, must follow the correct trend in values.

When you buy advertising space you buy circulation. You do not buy the editorial policy of the paper, nor are you concerned about whether you like the publisher. If you want to be friendly with your business, place your space where the buyers read it.

Cameron newspapers occupy a place in Texas journalism few publications enjoy.

Increased circulation and increased reader interest make it inevitable that advertising rates must be increased.

Every commodity you buy has advanced . . . in some cases, doubled. The same increases occur to newspapers. Labor, paper and all supplies are higher. But, greater number of readers, is the true basis on which increases in rates MUST BE MADE.

The Cameron Herald
